GUIDE TO THE ARCHIVES AND PAPERS

(Excluding the archives of the Anglican Church of Southern Africa)
PREFACE

The University of the Witwatersrand has, as one of its most valuable and prestigious heritage and research assets, the holdings of the priceless Historical Papers collections. Historical Papers is the main humanities archival research resource on campus and is located in the William Cullen Library. It is also the largest non-state archives in Southern Africa and it is uniquely positioned within the South African heritage sector.

The archives held in custody for the wider community within Historical Papers are extensive and provide a unique documentary record of South African history and society. The collections housed at Historical Papers include diaries, letters, memoranda, reports, minute-books, press clippings, pamphlets, photographs, drawings, oral interviews, trial transcripts and financial, legal and personal documents. These items are described in the Guide to the Archives and Papers of which this is the twelfth edition.

The collections have contributed to many notable publications, television documentaries, school textbooks and academic works. They not only hold value as research tools, teaching aids and as crucial evidence for the intellectual development of theories and models but they contain collective social memory. Consequently, Historical Papers is an accessible hub for human rights research serving civil society as well as scholars.

The first three editions of the Guide were arranged alphabetically. From the fourth edition onwards arrangement of the Guide has been by accession order. The first three editions of the Guide also included the description of the archives of the Church of the Province of Southern Africa. These archives are now described in a separate publication which accounts for the missing numbers in the Guide. Access to this eleventh edition is facilitated by a comprehensive index of personal names and subject fields mentioned in the Guide.

Entries are under the name of an individual or an organisation or the first name of a title or subject. For persons a brief biological note has been supplied, including dates of birth and death where these could be ascertained. Other information includes the nature of the material, inclusive dates, the extent of an item or collection, names of chief correspondents, important subjects covered, any restrictions on use and the existence of a published or unpublished inventory or calendar.
The first and second editions of the Guide were produced in 1967 and 1970 respectively by the late Isaac Isaacson; the third edition in 1975, the fourth edition in 1983, the fifth edition in 1986 and the sixth edition in 1991 were compiled by Anna M. Cunningham; the seventh edition by Michele Pickover in 1993 and the eighth to eleventh editions by Carol Archibald and Michele Pickover.

Further additions are being made by Gabriele Mohale from the twelfth edition onwards.
