C3.1 Album with photographs
The album contains prints from the printing blocks, and other press clippings pasted onto sheets of cardboard. It remains unknown who compiled the album. Many of these photographs appear in the "African Yearly Register". Some of the cuts printed on better quality paper might have been clipped by Skota from the 'Abantu-Batho Almanac', published circa 1916-1922, which is considered lost and by now no longer available in any library or archive. Some of the photographs of individuals have not been labelled or were not legible, and are therefore not listed below. The spelling of names has been applied as per original labelling.

Kas Maine Project Photographs
The Kas Maine Project collection of photographs comprises over 500 items. They include: Kas Maine and his family; farms in the Bloemhof district; farmers and traders; sharecroppers and their families; agriculture and stock; rural towns in the Western Transvaal; rural poverty; early transport; early diggings. When Historical Papers received these photographs, they were stored in numbered envelopes (1-252), with each envelope stored in a hanging file. This system has been retained, but the photographs have also been protected with acid-free plastic within the envelopes, and indexed in detail. The photos are not individually numbered, but are identified by the numbers on the envelopes. (Many have captions on them).

Photographs of particular interest are:
Kas Maine and his family: envelope no's. 248-250;
Cleansing ceremony at Gannalaagte, 1982 (Maine family): envelope no. 113
Funeral of Kas Maine at Ledig, Rustenburg: envelope no's. 78-80

(The numbers given are those on the envelopes of photographs).

Some photocopies of the Maine project photographs are stored in a file in envelope no. 253.

AG2738/Fb photographs are stored in envelopes in hanging files, in the filing cabinets. Media Room.

Share Cropping and Labour Tenancy Photographs
The photographs are of share croppers in various places in South Africa, and were taken in 1979 and the 1980’s when the people were interviewed. When these photographs were received, they were stored in numbered envelopes (1 – 94) in hanging files. This system has been retained, but the photographs have also been protected with acid-free plastic. They have been indexed as Share croppers and Labour tenants.

The areas where people were interviewed (according to the old provinces) include:
Transvaal: Makwassie, Potchefstroom (including Ikageng location), Klerksdorp, Evaton, Wolmaranstad, Lichtenburg, Middelburg, Bushbuckridge, Lebaleng, Nebo(?), Lydenburg, Barberton, Vlakpan, Rustenburg (inclus. Phokeng and Ledig), Parys, Mafikeng, Koppies(?), Heidelberg.

INSTITUTE FOR ADVANCED SOCIAL RESEARCH – Photographs

These photographs were found abandoned in a cupboard in an empty room in the Richard Ward Building, and were rescued by a member of staff of the School of Social Sciences. Prof Bozzoli thought that they might have belonged to the IASR and suggested that they be given to Historical Papers. We received them in October 2003, from Trish Milliken of the School of Social Sciences.

The photos are mostly folio size. Sets A-D are mounted on card, and most are laminated. They were taken by Afrapix photographers in the 1980s and sets A-D were used for Afrapix exhibitions. (Afrapix is now defunct).

These photographs are all subject to copyright: permission must be obtained from the photographers or their agents before reproductions can be made.

63 numbered photos used for an Afrapix exhibition, with a title card giving background information: “The Exhibition encompasses the following categories: State of Conflict, Funerals, Youth, Labour and Culture vs. Apartheid”.

They include images of forced relocations, demonstrations, troops in the townships, teargas, barricades, victims of the violence, funerals of political activists, Trade Union meetings, cultural events and an ECC fast.

They are mostly from May 1985 – June 1986. No. 28 is missing.

The photos all have: number, caption, date, name of photographer. All are laminated.

B  Domestic workers – 1980s
Set of 39 numbered photographs used for an Afrapix exhibition, with a title/text card giving background information.

They are images of domestic workers at work, during their time off, in their own homes, and attending Centres of Concern where they learned sewing and other skills. There are also photos of meetings of the South African Domestic Workers Union (SADWU) – nos. 32-39.

Most were taken in 1986 and 1987. Nos. 18 and 22 are missing.

The photos have captions and most have dates. All are laminated.

The names of the photographers are not given on the individual photos, but a list is given on the title card: Giselle Wulfsohn, Paul Weinberg, Santu Mofokang, Dave Hartman and Guy Tillim.

C  All our Children – a joint Afrapix/Vumani project, 1980s
Set of 60 numbered photographs used for an exhibition, with a title card.

The images are of children of all colours and from different socio-economic backgrounds. They depict living conditions in rural and urban environments in the 1980s, and some depict social upheaval.

The photos have captions and dates. All are laminated. Nos. 4 and 53 are missing. The names of the photographers are not given on the individual photos, but a list is given on the title card: Gill de Vlieg, Paul Grendon, Steve Hilton-Barber, Chris Ledochowski, Pax Magwaza, Roger Meintjies, Santu Mofokeng, Eric Miller, Cedric Nunn, Guy Tillim, Paul Weinberg and Anna Zieminski.

D  Women in the 1980s
Set of 50 photographs, mostly of women. There is no background information, but presumably they were used for an exhibition. The photographers were mainly from Afrapix(?).

The images are of relocations (forced removals), women workers and farm workers, demonstrations by women, FEDTRAW rally, women in trade unions, women affected by violence, and living conditions of women in urban environments.

The photos are mostly from the 1980s. Nos. 12 and 31 are missing.
The photos have captions and some are dated. They are mounted on card but not laminated. The names of the photographers are given on most of the photos.

B2 Belcher Bros. shop, established 1887
B3 Brown's building, Loveday Street on the West side between Fox and Main Streets, built 1895
B4 Brister's buildings, President Street between Eloff and Joubert Streets. The vacant lot on the left was afterwards occupied by K.Green and Co.'s larger building

C1 Cuthbert's building, Eloff street, built about 1903. It housed a well-known tea room, the Corner Lounge. The photograph was taken about 1913, corner of Pritchard and Eloff Streets, on the left is Hatfield House
C2 Central Hotel (1), Standard Bank (2), Exchange building (3) - descriptions by Barnett
C3 Chamber of Mines building (old), adjoined by National Bank. At right can be seen the old Corner House in Simmonds Street. In front can be seen "Between The Chains".
C4 Chamber of Mines building is shown on the left, early 20th century. The National Bank next to it has been demolished and "Between The Chains" across Simmonds Street removed. Beyond Simmonds Street is the Robinson Bank.
C5 Corner House or Eckstein's building, Commissioner Street, 14 July 1892 (not a Barnett photograph, has been added to the collection by The Star newspaper - see also under "E")
C6 Corner House, or Eckstein's Corner, before 1895. Later ornate cast iron trellis work was added to the building, which actually was the second Corner House. It stood at the intersection of Simmonds and Commissioner Streets, overlooking the area known as "Between The Chains"
C7 Corner House at left, with its ornate wrought iron railings and supports added to the building after 1895. On the right is the area "Between The Chains", where brokers are seen operating.

Court Chambers, situated on the south-west corner of Marshall and Rissik Streets, about 1895. They housed, upstairs the Health Inspector, and the Department of Personal tax, while on the ground floor was a solicitor and a Billiard Saloon called the "Pyramid and Pool", and next to the corner "His Lordship's harder", and on the corner swing doors leading into what probably was a pub.

Consolidated Investment building, the headquarters of the Johannesburg Consolidated Investment Company (J.C.I.) in the 1890s. This apparently was newly built at the time the photograph was taken, and probably is on the site of the existing headquarters of the company situated on the south-west corner of Fox and Harrison Streets.

Central City building, north-east corner of Joubert and Pritchard Streets

Curtis & Co. building, 68 Commissioner Street, south-east corner of Sauer Street

Chudleigh Brothers building (old), Eloff Street, 1897, decorated for Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee celebrations. The Chudleigh Brothers called the 3-store building Mounts Bay House because the Chudleighs came from the Scilly Isles, Cornwall (see also under "M")

Chudleighs building, new premises, Eloff Street, early 1900s

Eckstein's Corner building, also called Corner House, built by Hermann Eckstein in 1891. Together with Werner Beit and company he founded the "Corner House" group of mines, at one time South Africa's largest financial undertaking. "Eck" means corner and "Stein" stone, hence Corner House. It was replaced by Johannesburg's first sky scraper, the Corner House in 1903. It was in this building that Lionel Phillips, Jameson and John Hays Hammond together with others conceived the Jameson Raid. the picture was taken after the old wooden balcony railings had been replaced by cast-iron pillars and supports from Falkirk, Scotland. (See also under "C")

Exchange building (See also under "S")

Exploration building, Commissioner Street, built 1897
