To Jodie Ranson:

"As arranged, I am writing to ask for your help.

They can visit PI for free a year, for a fortnight at a time. The US goes for one or be over a unit - yes, 0 + held + be in Jan.

"As per the approach to the Ministry of Justice, they have to pay Per's own travel fees. When he last visited departed on 4 March 1967 it was understood that it got out provide his family with rail warrants to enable them to visit him, but this has been refused. I say 'understood' because Per is some confusion as to just what was promised at the time.

"It is duly noted 1967 that the family has actually been allowed to live on the island. They apparently are provided in good form the warden's mess - I must pay for it. The cost for the last unit was $42. It is about $10 when the tobacco goes on the own. It's a negligible amount for the opportunity, & it does free money to charge for the food."

12/2/69 - from Japa."
